

Minimum Time Frame for High School Course Credit

The eSchool Program has established a minimum time frame for any accredited course. No high school credit will be awarded for any student enrolled in a course for less than 15 school days. This has been established to validate the understanding and progression of the student in the course, as well as to address respective NCAA endorsement of online courses. Student schedules may be modified to best fit the particular need of a student.

Note: This does not apply to the required Orientation “mini” course, as it contains no credit options and is used to prepare the student and parent for the online educational setting.
